EIGHT IMPORTANT BILLS ADVANCED BY OKLAHOMA SENATE.

MEASURES AFFECT THE CONSTITUTION

Consideration of Resolution to Investigate System of Land Title Regulation.

Guthrie, Ok., April 4.—The Senate with a bare working majority today advanced to a third reading and for final passage Monday eight measures recommended by the special "steering" committee. Most of the measures have a vitalizing effect upon the constitution. Senator Franklin's bill for teaching the elements of agriculture and creating a harmonious system of agricultural and industrial education in the schools was so considered after the plan for agricultural schools in each of the supreme judicial districts had been eliminated and departments of agriculture recommended in connection with the state normal schools.

Favorable Consideration.

Favorable consideration was given the resolution by Senator Russell for the appointment of a committee from the house and the senate to investigate the Lorenz system of registering land titles as well as the state laws on the subject with a view of reporting a bill suited to the needs of the people of Oklahoma to the second legislature. It was understood that today's action had no binding effect upon the session to follow.

Others in the list were the bill by Senator Stewart placing into effect the Arkansas practice of making acknowledgments to mortgages, allowing the same to be done by Notaries public. The bill by Senator Thomas, carrying into effect the constitutional provision prescribing a method of procedure for condemning property for use by corporations under which owner of the land is entitled to immediate payment, the provision being made applicable to all corporations exercising the rights of eminent domain. Senator Redwine's bill creating an attorney's lien upon judgments due clients in personal injury cases and making the adverse party to the suit liable to attorney for fees where the case is settled without attorney's consent, and Senator Hatchett's bill requiring the acceptance of first mortgages on improved estate where bond indemnity or guaranty is required.

A resolution was offered by Senators Hatchett and Brazell to reduce the clerical force fifteen in number, which the resolution states will mean a saving of $50 per day to the senate.

SAYS DAWES RECORDS SHOW TAXABLE LANDS

Opinion Rendered by Oklahoma's Attorney General.

Muskogee, Ok., April 4.—According to an opinion by Attorney General West the records of the Dawes commission, kept here, are conclusive as to what lands of the Indians are taxable by the state and counties. In the Cherokee Nation the taxable lands the Attorney General states, are the surplus lands of intermarried citizens, dead claims or where the allottee owner is dead, surplus or where the allottee owner is dead, surplus of the freedmen and those lands of the mixed bloods whose restrictions have been removed.

In the Creek Nation the taxable lands are the surplus of the mixed bloods, the freedmen and dead claims.

In the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations it is the surplus of intermarried citizens, dead claims and lands of the mixed bloods upon which restrictions have been removed. In these two nations this applies whether the restrictions have been removed by the Indian agent or by operation of the law, which covers one-fourth in one year, one-half in three years and remainder in five years. In all of these nations those lands are also taxable where the restrictions have been removed by acts of congress.

In the Seminole Nation none of the lands are taxable until deeds have been issued, save lands of dead claims.

FRATERNAL ORDERS MAD.

They Consider That the Roddie Insurance Bill Highly Detrimental.

State legislators are being besieged by members of the fraternal insurance orders, especially by those of the two great Woodman lodges from all over the country urging them to defeat that part of Senator Roddie's insurance bill which they allege destroys the assessment rights of all fraternal orders.

Senator Roddie feels that his bill is misunderstood as is evidenced in a late communication to Mr. P. C. Duncan and which is hereunder published in the consideration that Senator Roddie's constituents are entitled to be furnished by the press all the truth concerning the acts of their public servants:

"Guthrie, Okla., April 2, 1908.—Mr. P. C. Duncan, Ada, Okla. Dear Sir and Friend—Senate bill No. 204 an Insurance Bill introduced by me, that is on the Calendar makes no reference to fraternal insurance at all. I have a bill, Senate Bill No. 284, pending in the committee that deals specifically with fraternal insurance and prohibits all classes of assessment insurance companies from doing business in this state that are not fraternal in their nature and organization. The bill is nothing like what the impression that has gone out over the country seems to make it. It does not change the present law with reference to fraternal rates. All this agitation was gotten up by some irresponsible assessment companies that have been driven out of the state and my bills prohibit them from doing business here and don't you think for one moment that the Modern Woodmen or the W. O. W. or any other insurance companies of like character will be affected by it. The General Attorney for the W. O. W. has been here and read the bill and I agreed to make some amendments at his suggestions and stand ready to meet the attorney or representative of the Modern Woodman and make any amendment that they may suggest, but your lodge as well as many others throughout the state are misinformed as to the contents of this bill. I hope that you will take the pains to see that this letter is placed before your lodge in the proper way.

In the meantime I beg to remain, most respectfully yours,

ROBERT M. RODDIE.

P. S. You see, Mr. Duncan, that if my bill becomes a law it is in the interest of fraternal insurance orders, while it does not raise the rate on you boys that have fraternal insurance. It prohibits your strongest competitors, these irresponsible disreputable assessment companies that have no fraternalism connected with them. I want you to be sure to get that in your mind fully, and they are the people that are stirring up you and others by their misrepresentations.

R. M. RODDIE.

HOT SPRINGS MAYOR CONDUCTS A RAID

Thirty-Five Persons in Gambling Parlor Are Placed Under Arrest.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 4.—Incensed at the failure of the police department to stop the gambling houses which have been running wide open, Mayor Jodd personally raided a gambling parlor here last night.

He left his wife in a drug store, and endeavored to enlist the services of two policemen, who refused to accompany him without orders from the Chief of Police.

Mayor Jodd finally secured two patrolmen, and headed the raid. Thirty-five people were placed under arrest, but all but ten escaped on the way to the jail. Every gambling house in Hot Springs is running wide open, and the police department refuses to take any action looking to their suppression and has the support of the council.

Chief Bentz was suspended a few

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Large Delegation Going to Guthrie This Afternoon.

In pursuance to a call from President E. H. Lucas of the 25,000 Club for a mass meeting of citizens to meet in the Club rooms at 9 a. m. this morning, a large number of representative citizens gathered to discuss the advisability of sending a larger delegation to Guthrie, to assist our representatives in securing a normal school for Ada. President Lucas called the meeting to order and stated its object. Short talks were made by W. C. Duncan, T. L. Rippey, Representative Frank Huddleston and others, all showing the importance of a good representation. A soliciting committee composed of E. H. Lucas, Rev. E. L. Kirtley and A. K. Thornton to raise funds to assist in paying the delegation's expenses is now out and when they come to you do not refuse, but help them. We can't get this normal on wind and every little bit helps.

The following gentlemen have been appointed to go to Guthrie and most of them will leave this afternoon: C. C. Hargis, W. B. Roach, E. L. Kirtley, L. T. Walters, Geo. Thompson, J. F. McKeel, T. D. McKeown, T. B. Harrell, E. L. Massey, Judge Galbraith, W. G. Broadfoot, W. C. Duncan, J. W. Bolen, Geo. Harrison, J. E. Bills, U. G. Winn, John W. Beard, Otis B. Weaver, Geo. S. Frierson.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, run-down nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oft-times weakens the Heart's action.

Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by G. M. Ramsey.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn boys' growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

Commensurate With the City's Growth

It is proper that our stock should be made stronger and the demands more carefully considered each year. We Can Better Serve you in Hardware and Furniture than any other firm in Pontotoc County, for we are able to fit you up with a complete outfit of furnishings from the smallest article of hardware to the most expensive article of furniture.

We have just received a splendid selection of Greenland Refrigerators. They come in the enameled as well as the plain. Ten years handling this excellent line has convinced us that there is no more economic refrigerator on the market. The peculiar construction of the walls is such as to guarantee a normal amount of ice wasting - this is a point many do not consider.

We have just received another shipment of these beautiful Vernis Martin beds. They are massive and very attractive, does not require polishing, which makes it more desirable than the brass.

FLOOR COVERINGS

We have received several shipments of Art Squares from the Eastern market. Our last shipment of Axminster 9x12 Rugs are especially rich and beautiful. We will sell these at least ten per cent cheaper than we have seen them on sale in some of our larger cities.

LACE CURTAINS

We have just received a shipment of lace curtains which for beauty and correctness of style cannot be excelled.

Price per pair
$3 up to $7

LINOLEUMS

We have the largest and most complete stock of Linoleums and matings in the city. Prices are right - come and see.

It is being more recognized than in former years that it is just as necessary to have a well furnished kitchen as any other part of the house. Especially is it necessary for the comfort and convenience of those who in this western country are so unfortunate as to be unable to have hired help.

Good Jokes

A BASHFUL SWEETHEART.

A sharp-featured, determined little woman popped her head out of the door and indignantly demanded the business of a bashful young man, who had been hanging around the house for hours in a pitiless downpour of rain, hoping against hope that his adored one would invite him in.

"Now then, young feller, what do yer want here? Tryin' to wear the pavement out, or what?" she demanded, sarcastically.

"I reckon I've come a-courtin' your daughter," the shamefaced youth admitted.

"Oh, ye're after Lizzie, are yer? Then take my advice, young man, an' run away an' lose yerself. My gal ain't goin' to marry a chap that ain't got the courage to knock at the door an' ax for her—not likely! Why, when my husband came a-courtin' me and found the door locked, he climbed the back-yard wall, strangled the bulldog, an' knocked the old man silly wif a clump on the jaw. Then he grabbed hold of my hand and shoved a ring as big as a cartwheel on my finger, and told me that the banns were published last Sunday. That's the sort of husband I want for our Lizzie—not a shiverin' milkop that ain't got sense to come in out of the rain!"

A HOPELESS CASE.

Mabel—After years of effort, I have succeeded in learning how to pronounce "Goethe."

Tom—Well, are you satisfied now? Mabel—No; every time I say it somebody corrects me.

Paying Invention.

Inventor—I have here a new life-saving appliance, which needs only capital to—

Capitalist—I'm busted. Haven't a cent left. Going to the poorhouse next week. Good da—

Inventor—Let me show you one more thing, also my invention—a new patent self-feeding rotary cannon, warranted to kill 10,000 men a second.

Capitalist—Gee Whittaker! I'll give a million dollars for a half-interest!—N. Y. Weekly.

Better at Collaboration.

The Widow (after selecting headstone)—Poor Henry always took great interest in pleasure in these here comic epytaps. Praps if you could think up one uv them you might put it on the stone.

The Dealer—I ain't very lit'ry, ma'am, but I've had a little experience in lim'rick contests, so if you'll compose part o' the verse, I guess I could fill in a missin' line or two.—Judge.

LONG-LENT WANT.

Bronson—Some genius has invented an alarm clock that will arouse its owner and also fire the furnace.

Woodson—Hum! Why can't they invent one with enough nerve to fire the cook?

Insured His Repose.

Benedick—I don't think that duffer, King Solomon, could have been very wise.

Henpeck—Why not? Benedick—He married a thousand wives.

Henpeck—That showed his wisdom—he knew they'd keep each other busy.

Sensitive Conscience.

Two little girls walking in a field feared that the cow would attack them.

"Let's go right on and act as if we weren't afraid of her at all," said one.

"But," remonstrated the other, "wouldn't that be deceiving the cow?"

NOT COMPLETE.

Bacon—This paper says the dragon fly moves through the air either backward or forward.

Egbert—Of course, we know it must move one way or the other; but why doesn't it tell us just which way it does move?—Yonkers Statesman.

DIDN'T MISS MUCH.

Mr. Churchleigh—You miss so much by not attending church more regularly.

Mrs. Wise—Oh, no; I have subscribed for two additional fashion magazines.

The Usual Experience.

Mr. Younghusband—I suppose you remember the pony and phaeton I bought of you when my wife and I set up housekeeping. Well, I sold the pony some time ago to pay doctors' bills, and now I'd like to sell the phaeton.

Livery Man—I can't spare the money to buy, but I'd be willing to trade, if there is anything in my line you want.

Mr. Younghusband (after long thought)—I'll trade for oats, if you'll grind 'em up. I believe oatmeal is good for children.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Difference.

An enterprising gentleman of the breezy west, who superintends the railroad eating house in his town, has recently hung out a sign that furnishes considerable amusement to those who pass by. It reads:

PLAIN CLOTHES, INDEED!

"Look, Maria; that's the new policeman."

"Lor, so it is. I 'ardly recognized 'im in 'is plain clothes!"—Cassell's.

The Ruling Passion.

Fathead—My dear fellow, how did you get your face cut so terribly?

Tartly—I hired a dumb barber to shave me.

Fathead—And he didn't know how to shave, eh?

Tartly—Yes, he did; but he persisted in trying to talk to me with his hands while he was doing it.

Two Accounts Closed.

Family Retainer—Oh, sir, something terrible has 'appened! Your daughter, Miss Gwendolyn, sir, has eloped with the chauffeur, sir, an' they're off in the motor-car, sir.

The Old Man—Thank the lord! Maybe I can save a little money now that the girl and the machine are both gone.—Puck.

BOYS AND GIRLS

A SHADOW THEATER.

Delightful Entertainment Which You Can Provide for Friends.

It is not difficult to prepare the necessary fittings for the shadow theater.

The Shadow Theater.

To begin with the stage. Either the folding doors between two rooms would be suitable, or a three-leaf screen with the upper half of the middle cut away and placed in a doorway (or, failing this, in the room itself), so arranged as to hide the stage manager and reciter from the audience. A transparent tracing cloth or muslin dipped in water and well wrung out must be strained across the opening. A drop or sliding curtain must be arranged over the stage, which must be high enough to admit of the operator standing or sitting at the back below. A very narrow ledge runs along the inside to rest the figures on, so that they nearly touch the transparent sheet. They are held in the hand by a piece of cardboard or wood glued to the back (see Fig. IV.). If a screen is not available the framework of a shallow box would do, the transparent cloth stretched so as to leave room for the drop curtain in front. The

box should then be suspended by ropes from its four corners and fastened to walls and floor, curtains being thrown over the ropes to hide the operators.

A shadow stage is usually about one yard and a quarter wide and one yard high. A piano is placed in the front of the scene where the performer, with back to the audience, takes the place of an orchestra. The figures can be first drawn then pasted on to cardboard and cut with scissors or knife. But those wishing to go to work seriously and have a stock company of lasting, clean-edged shadows should cut them in zinc, as decorators do their stencils. If they are to move they must be jointed as in Fig. IV., which shows how a Gibson girl can be made to trail and sway rhythmically across the stage after the manner of her kind. The limbs are cut off, and a piece of cardboard being added, they are replaced with wire and manipulated by means of cotton or string, kept in place by little wire hoops, thus preventing the string projecting, and becoming visible to the audience. The cardboard clowns sold in toyshops which dance and gesticulate when a string is pulled would be of great help in understanding the mechanism of our little shadow figures.

The arrows pointing to the forearm of Fig. IV. indicate that the arm has been jointed here, but replaced by a knot of elastic, which gives a life-like springy motion, without requiring to be manipulated with string.

A pretty Dutch scene could be reconstructed by taking a similar subject as Fig. II. The Mill (Fig. III.) could be fastened to the side of the stage, as shown in diagram to represent the middle distance. The sails, if fastened on according to diagram, have only to be touched to be set in motion. Subjects similar to Fig. I., representing the fairy tale of the Princess of the Geese, will suggest themselves readily to those who are fond of telling fairy tales to children.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

The Escape, Pursuit and Lassoing of a Tiger in Tennessee.

A tiger in Tennessee may be set down as a decided novelty, and the account of its capture makes an interesting story.

One day a circus came to Knoxville, and on the eve of departure the circus wagons were being loaded on the cars. A switch engine was shoving some cars about, when one of them became derailed, colliding violently with two cage-wagons, and the cage containing three tigers was badly damaged. The woodwork was crushed in, leaving a hole of sufficient size for the tigers to get out.

One of the animals leaped from the cage on to the flat car, and from there to the ground. The two remaining ones were about to follow suit, when the trainer and several other employees of the circus rushed up to the cage and prevented the exit. But one of the tigers was at large, and as soon as the fact became generally known a stampede of the people in the vicinity occurred, while the circus men rushed to inform the managers.

Preparations for the capture of the tiger were made. One of the Texas cowboys, and the one most perfect in handling a lasso, was detailed to make the attempt. The man handling the tiger was also instructed to assist in the dangerous duty, and the pair went to work.

They located the tiger about a stone's throw from the cage in which he had been confined. The huge brute was crouched under a box car, between the rails. His eyes shone brightly and looked to his captors as large as two full moons.

A large dry goods box was procured, a hole bored in the bottom and the box placed on its side, convenient to the animal. One end of the lasso was shoved through the hole and the Texan threw the rope. His judgment was perfect, and the lariat dropped over the neck and left foreleg of the tiger to a nicety. Then the work of landing the animal in the box began.

He was pulled up to it slowly, and although he resisted considerably, was at last safely lodged in the box, but not until he had torn off one glove worn by the cowboy and lacerated his hand badly. The box was then nailed up and the tiger hauled away, growling spitefully.

Do not try to save your loose change. It is too small an amount to put in the savings bank. It would not amount to much, anyway, and there is great comfort in spending it. Just wait until you get sufficient worth while before you deposit it.

Do not try to economize. It is an infernal nuisance to always try to save a few cents here and there. Besides, you will get the reputation of being mean and stingy. You want everybody to think you are generous.

Just look out for to-day. Have a good time as you go along. Just use your money yourself. Don't deprive yourself for the sake of laying up something for other people to fight over. Besides, you are sure of to-day. You might not be alive to-morrow.—Success Magazine.

Magic Glass.

Here is something that the boys and girls may amuse themselves with. Take an ordinary pane of glass, or a hand mirror, that has not been polished just beforehand, and on it with your finger trace the outlines of a face, or a name, or a drawing of any kind. The glass will look as if it had not been touched, but blow your breath upon it, and the tracing will at once become visible. For another experiment polish the surface of the glass and lay on it a coin of some kind. Remove the coin after a little while, and the glass will not show any mark on it, but if you blow your breath on it, the image of the coin will appear. All this is due to the deposit of gases and fine dust particles on the surface of any glass that is exposed to the air for a little while.

Whereabouts of the Cat's Tail. Little Dot was drawing a picture with pen and ink on her paper, relates the Philadelphia Record. It turned out to be a cat without a tail. "Where is the tail?" asked the mother.

She looked puzzled for a moment and then replied: "Why, it's in the ink bottle yet."

The Matter of Dress

The tailor-made gown and the lightweight storm coat which will keep off the chill of the spring winds and protect from the sudden storm are two requisites of the wardrobe which must be considered. In our illustration above we show a charming coat and skirt costume. The natty little bolero has double revers and cuffs, the lower one in each respect being of white cloth, which gives a very smart touch to the costume. The material is one of the newest tweeds, which can be had in many shades including several art colors. The skirt is tight fitting around the hips, but has a deep inverted plait at the back and is trimmed round the hem with upright strapped bands with mitered points, which are graduated in size from front to back. The hat shown with this very neat costume is a small round shape of white felt simply trimmed with bunches of violets.

The full-length coat shown at the right is semi-fitting, and the sleeves and body are lined with silk or other lining material, according to the amount one feels disposed to pay for such a garment. The back is well cut and the whole garment though roomy enough to go over a jacket is far more shapely than the usual saque coat. In the illustration the collar is shown turned up and the revers tucked in to show how cozy it can be made when out in the weather. The hat which so modestly harmonizes with this long coat is made of soft felt with a rolled brim edged with velvet. A band of the same velvet surrounds the crown and forms a huge rosette from which starts a small ostrich tip.

And now to make a big jump from the practical to the finery of the wedding trousseau let us give a brief description of the wedding dress displayed in our smaller illustration. It is an empire gown of white satin, the long trained skirt being quite plain and the draped bodice arranged with a fichu of Brussels lace, and two long stoles of lace back and front. The veil is of Brussels lace and is fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms.

And now having conscientiously and faithfully disposed of our pictures let us turn to other matters of dress which will interest particularly at this season of the year. In "dressy" costumes for spring the lightweight broadcloths are to be the smartest. The supple chiffon broadcloths so admirably adapted to all sorts of drapings, as well as in plain tight costumes, became fashionable at once, and their vogue, now long continued, promises to see no end.

In broadcloths the plain rather than the stripes and checks now seen will be a choice of the fashionable fair one.

The printed mousselines will be much seen in reception and dressy afternoon and also in dinner gowns. The lovely borders that came in last spring will be more worn, as the prices will not be quite so high. Of course they are no longer the novelties they were, but they are beautiful, and will be much worn by the women of fashion.

In the cut of a costume lies its chief charm, provided the fabric is suited to the person and the place.

The plaited skirt is always worn. It suits the ordinary figure, whether too thin or too plump, better than the plain skirts, but the latter of circular cut are infinitely smarter, more graceful, are light in weight, and easier to manage in walking. The tight circular skirt without a plait to relieve it about the hips is suited to the truly feminine figure only. By the feminine figure I mean the womanly one, full of curves, with wide hips, flat in the front, and rounded in the back. The hipless, backless monstrosity which some women claim to admire is the masculine shape, and a man might quite as well and with as much propriety sigh for the broad hips and full curves of the womanly figure. The whole attempt of fashion to achieve long straight lines and the hipless figure is a curious perversion, offensive to the normal human being, whether man or woman, but especially obnoxious to men.

The new thing in coats for back-about, shopping and morning wear for spring will be the short or hip length coats. These will vary from 22 to 27 inches in length, depending largely on the height of the wearer or the length of the waist. The smartest of these will be tight fitting.

For the wear of most women, however, the costumes offered in even the smart shops will have these jackets semi-fitting and of the longer rather than the shorter lengths.

The semi-fitting coat is much the best for every one for morning and general traveling wear. Many a woman wears different corsets, different in length and build, and she may wear whichever is most comfortable and look as well in the semi-fitting coat. The tight coat, however, demands one's tightest corset. Another strong point in favor of the semi-fitted coat is that the thin woman looks more rounded, while the exuberance of the too plump figure is not defined, but pleasingly veiled.

A feature of the new spring coats will be the pointed skirts. Some of these will be pointed in the front and in the back, or will have the pointed front and rounded back, or points on the sides.

Some of the coat skirts will be slashed and these slashes will in some instances have buttonholes worked in on one side—real buttonholes—and on the other a row of buttons. Short slashes will be outlined with length-wise strips of braid.

Capacity.

EIGHT IMPORTANT BILLS AD-VANCED BY OKLAHOMA
SENATE.

MEASURES AFFECT THE CONSTITUTION

Consideration of Resolution to Investigate System of Land Title Regulation.

Guthrie, Ok., April 4.—The Senate with a bare working majority today advanced to a third reading and for final passage Monday eight measures recommended by the special "steering" committee. Most of the measures have a vitalizing effect upon the constitution. Senator Franklin's bill for teaching the elements of agriculture and creating a harmonious system of agricultural and industrial education in the schools was so considered after the plan for agricultural schools in each of the supreme judicial districts had been eliminated and departments of agriculture recommended in connection with the state normal schools.

Favorable Consideration.

Favorable consideration was given the resolution by Senator Russell for the appointment of a committee from the house and the senate to investigate the Lorenz system of registering land titles as well as the state laws on the subject with a view of reporting a bill suited to the needs of the people of Oklahoma to the second legislature. It was understood that today's action had no binding effect upon the session to follow.

Others in the list were the bill by Senator Stewart placing into effect the Arkansas practice of making acknowledgments to mortgages, allowing the same to be done by Notaries public.
The bill by Senator Thomas, carrying into effect the constitutional provision prescribing a method of proceed-ure for condemning property for use by corporations under which owner of the land is entitled to immediate payment, the provision being made applicable to all corporations exercising the rights of eminent domain. Senator Redwine's bill creating an attorney's lien upon judgments due clients in personal injury cases and making the adverse party to the suit liable to attorney for fees where the case is settled without attorney's consent, and Senator Hatchett's bill requiring the acceptance of first mortgages on improved estate where bond indemnity or guaranty is required.

A resolution was offered by Senators Hatchett and Brazell to reduce the clerical force fifteen in number which the resolution states will mean a saving of $50 per day to the senate.

Opinion Rendered by Oklahoma's Attorney General.

Muskogee, Ok., April 4.—According to an opinion by Attorney General West the records of the Dawes commission, kept here, are conclusive as to what lands of the Indians are taxable by the state and counties. In the Cherokee Nation the taxable lands the Attorney General states, are the surplus lands of intermarried citizens, dead claims or where the allottee owner is dead, surplus or where the allottee owner is dead, surplus of the freedmen and those lands of the mixed bloods whose restrictions have been removed.

In the Creek Nation the taxable lands are the surplus of the mixed bloods, the freedmen and dead claims.

In the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations it is the surplus of intermarried citizens, dead claims and lands of the mixed bloods upon which restrictions have been removed. In these two nations this applies whether the restrictions have been removed by the Indian agent or by operation of the law, which covers one-fourth in one year,
one-half in three years and remainder in five years. In all of these nations those lands are also taxable where the restrictions have been removed by acts of congress.

In the Seminole Nation none of the lands are taxable until deeds have been issued, save lands of dead claims.

FRATERNAL ORDERS MAD.

They Consider That the Roddie Insurance Bill Highly Detrimental.

State legislators are being besieged by members of the fraternal insurance orders, especially by those of the two great Woodman lodges from all over the country urging them to defeat that part of Senator Roddie's insurance bill which they allege destroys the assessment rights of all fraternal orders.

Senator Roddie feels that his bill is misunderstood as is evidenced in a late communication to Mr. P. C. Duncan and which is hereunder published in the consideration that Senator Rod-die's constituents are entitled to be furnished by the press all the truth concerning the acts of their public servants.

"Guthrie, Okla., April 2, 1908.—Mr.
P. C. Duncan, Ada, Okla. Dear Sir and Friend—Senate bill No. 204 an Insurance Bill introduced by me, that is on the Calendar makes no reference to fraternal insurance at all. I have a bill, Senate Bill No. 284, pending in the committee that deals specifically with fraternal insurance and prohibits all classes of assessment insurance companies from doing business in this state that are not fraternal in their nature and organization. The bill is nothing like what the impression that has gone out over the country seems to make it. It does not change the present law with reference to fraternal rates. All this agitation was gotten up by some irresponsible assessment companies that have been driven out of the state and my bills prohibit them from doing business here and don't you think for one moment that the Modern Woodmen or the W.
O. W. or any other insurance companies of like character will be affected by it. The General Attorney for the W. O. W. has been here and read the bill and I agreed to make some amendments at his suggestions and stand ready to meet the attorney or representative of the Modern Woodman and make any amendment that they may suggest, but your lodge as well as many others throughout the state are misinformed as to the contents of this bill. I hope that you will take the pains to see that this letter is placed before your lodge in the proper way.

In the meantime I beg to remain,
most respectfully yours,

ROBERT M. RODDIE

P. S. You see, Mr. Duncan, that if my bill becomes a law it is in the interest of fraternal insurance orders, while it does not raise the rate on you boys that have fraternal insurance; it prohibits your strongest competitors, these irresponsible disreputable assessment companies that have no fraternalism connected with them. I want you to be sure to get that in your mind fully, and they are the people that are stirring up you and others by their misrepresentations.

Thirty-Five Persons in Gambling Par-

Hot Springs, Ark., April 4.—Incened at the failure of the police department to stop the gambling houses which have been running wide open, Mayor Jodd personally raided a gambling parlor here last night.

He left his wife in a drug store, and endeavored to enlist the services of two policemen, who refused to accom-

Chief of Police.

Mayor Jodd finally secured two patrolmen, and headed the raid. Thirty-five people were placed under arrest, but all but ten escaped on the way to the jail. Every gambling house in Hot Springs is running wide open, and the police department refuses to take any action looking to their suppression and has the support of the council.

Order by Commission.

Guthrie, Ok., April 4.—The corporation commission issued the proposed order tonight requiring all public service corporations transacting business in Oklahoma to file a detailed statement of all revenues yearly to be made at the close of business on June 30. The order also requires all public service corporations engaged in interstate business to file similar statements showing amount credited to this state of their revenues.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Large Delegation Going to Guthrie This Afternoon.

In pursuance to a call from President E. H. Lucas of the 25,000 Club for a mass meeting of citizens to meet in the Club rooms at 9 a. m. this morning, a large number of representative citizens gathered to discuss the advisability of sending a larger delegation to Guthrie to assist our representatives in securing a normal school for Ada. President Lucas called the meeting to order and stated its object. Short talks were made by W. C. Duncan, T. L. Rippey, Representative Frank Huddleston and others, all showing the importance of a good representation. A soliciting committee composed of E. H. Lucas, Rev. E. L. Kirtley and A. K. Thornton to raise funds to assist in paying the delegation's expenses is now out and when they come to you do not refuse but help them. We can't get this normal on wind and every little bit helps.

The following gentlemen have been appointed to go to Guthrie and most of them will leave this afternoon: C. C. Hargis, W. B. Roach, E. L. Kirtley, L. T. Walters, Geo. Thompson, J. F. McKeel, T. D. McKeown, T. B. Harrell, E. L. Massey, Judge Galbraith, W. C. Broadfoot, W. C. Duncan, J. W. Bolen, Geo. Harrison, J. E. Bills, U. G. Winn, John W. Beard, Otis B. Weaver, Geo. S. Frierson.

Weak women get prompt and lasting help by using Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories with full information how to proceed are interestingly told in my book "No. 4 For Women." The book and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Simply write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for my book No. 1. Sold by G. M. Ramsey.

Sheriff Has Black Hand Letter.
Oklahoma City, Okla., April 4.—Admitting that he had received a letter signed "Black Hand," and threatening him with death, Sheriff Garrison today declined to divulge its contents. He said he was satisfied that one or more anarchists are located in this city. During the last few weeks Sheriff Garrison has waged a strenuous war upon violators of the prohibition law and gamblers.

Pain, anywhere, can be quickly stopped by one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Pain always means congestion—unnatural blood pressure. Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets simply coat congested blood away from pain centers. These Tablets—known by druggists as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—simply equalize the blood circulation and then pain always departs in 20 minutes. 20 Tablets 25 cents. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., for free package. Sold by G. M. Ramsey.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, run-down nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver stagnates the kidneys, and oft-times weakens the heart's action.

Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by G. M. Ramsey.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn heavy growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and paralyze this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism, but now, at last, I can finally cure all curable cases of this horrible, such dreaded disease. These man-like, grating, wailing, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to come and pass away under the action of this remedy as easily as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved these poisonous wastes, freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend.

When you will decide contemplated changes in house furnishings Come In and Figure With Us

Our stock is replete with many desirable articles of furnishings not heretofore carried in stock in our city.
Commensurate With the City's Growth

It is proper that our stock should be made stronger and the demands more carefully considered each year. We can better serve you in Hardware and Furniture than any other firm in Pontotoc County, for we are able to fit you up with a complete outfit of furnishings from the smallest article of hardware to the most expensive article of furniture.

We have just received a splendid selection of Greenland Refrigerators. They come in the enameled as well as the plain. Ten years handling this excellent line has convinced us that there is no more economic refrigerator on the market. The peculiar construction of the walls is such as to guarantee a normal amount of ice wasting—this is a point many do not consider.

We have just received another shipment of these beautiful Vernis Martin beds. They are massive and very attractive, does not require polishing, which makes it more desirable than the brass.

FLOOR COVERINGS

We have received several shipments of Art Squares from the Eastern market. Our last shipment of Axminster 9x12 Rugs are especially rich and beautiful. We will sell these at least ten per cent cheaper than we have seen them on sale in some of our larger cities.

LACE CURTAINS

We have just received a shipment of lace curtains which for beauty and correctness of style cannot be excelled. Price per pair

Good Jokes

A BASHFUL SWEETHEART.

A sharp-featured determined little woman popped her head out of the door and indignantly demanded the business of a bashful young man who had been hanging around the house for hours in a pitiless downpour of rain hoping against hope that his adored one would invite him in.

"Now then young fellow what do you want here?" Trying to wear the pavement out or what? she demanded sarcastically.

"I reckon I've come a courtin your daughter," the shamefaced youth admitted.

"Oh were after Lizzie are yer?" Then the advice young man said was to go to the door and ask her to marry a chap that ain't on age to look at the door an' a. . . her—no lik'ly! Why when my father car a courtin me and found the door locked he climbed the back wall, strangled the bulldog an' knocked the old man silly wi a clump on the jaw. Then he grabbed hold of my hand and s'ed a thig as big as a cartwheel on my finger and told me that the banns were published last Sunday. That's the sort of husband I want for our Lizzie—act a shiverin' milkop that ain't got sense to come in out of the rain.

A HOPELESS CASE

Mabel—After years of effort I have succeeded in learning how to pronounce Goethe.

Tom—Well are you satisfied now? Mabel—No every time I say it somebody corrects me.

Paying Invention.

Inventor—I have here a new life-saving appliance which needs only capital to—

Capitalist—I'm busted. Haven't a cent left. Going to the poorhouse next week. Good day.

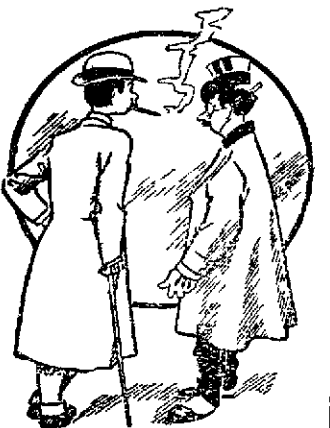

Inventor—Let me show you one more thing also my invention—a new patent self-feeding rotary cannon warranted to kill 10,000 men a second. Capitalist—Gee Whizz! I'll give a million dollars for a half interest!—N. Y. Weekly.

Better at Cold Water.

The Widow (after selecting her stone)—Poor Henry, always took great interest in a pleasure in these horse comic epigrams. Pays if you could think up one or two you might put it on the store.

The Doctor—I ain't very lit'ry man but I've had a little experience in limrick contests so if you'll compose part o the verse I guess I could fill in a missin line or two—Judge.

LONGFELT WANT

Brownson—Some genius has invented a alarm clock that will arouse its owner and also fire the furnace.

Woodson—Hum! Why can't they invent one with enough nerve to fire the cook?

Insured His Repose.

Benedick—I don't think that duffer, King Solomon, could have been very wise.

Henpeck—Why not? Benedick—He married a thousand wives.

Henpeck—That showed his wisdom—he knew they'd keep each other busy.

Sensitive Conscience.

Two little girls walking in a field feared that the cow would attack them.

Let's go right on and act as if we weren't afraid of her at all, said one. "But," remonstrated the other, "wouldn't that be deceiving the cow?"

NOT COMPLETE.

Bacon—This paper says the dragon fly moves through the air either backward or forward.

Egbert—Of course, we know it must move one way or the other, but why doesn't it tell us just which way it does move?—Yonkers Statesman.

DIDN'T MISS MUCH.

Mr Churchleigh—You miss so much by not attending church more regularly.

Mrs Wise—Oh, no I have subscribed for two additional fashion magazines.

The Usual Experience.

Mr Younghusband—I suppose you remember the pony and phaeton I bought of you when my wife and I set up housekeeping. Well I sold the pony some time ago to pay doctors bills and now I'd like to sell the phaeton.

Livery Man—I can't spare the money to buy but I'd be willing to trade, if there is anything in my line you want.

Mr Younghusband (after long thought)—I'll trade for oats if you'll grind 'em up. I believe oatmeal is good for children.—N. Y. Weekly.

A Difference.

An enterprising gentleman of the breezy west, who superintends the railroad eating house in his town, has recently hung out a sign that furnishes considerable amusement to those who pass by. It reads:

The Ruling Passion.

Fathead—My dear fellow, how did you get your face cut so terribly?

Tartley—I hired a dumb barber to shave me.

Fathead—And he didn't know how to shave, eh?

Tartley—Yes he did, but he persisted in trying to talk to me with his hands while he was doing it.

Two Accounts Closed.

Family Retainer—Oh sir something terrible has happened! Your daughter, Miss Gwendolyn, she's eloped with the chauffeur and they're off in the motor car!

BOYS AND GIRLS

A SHADOW THEATER.

Delightful Entertainment Which You Can Provide for Friends.

It is not difficult to prepare the necessary fittings for the shadow theater.

The Shadow Theater.

To begin with the stage. Either the folding doors between two rooms would be suitable or a threeleaf screen with the upper half of the middle cut away and placed in a doorway (or falling this in the room itself) so arranged as to hide the stage manager and reciter from the audience. A transparent tracing cloth or muslin dipped in water and well wrung out must be strained across the opening. A drop or sliding curtain must be arranged over the stage which must be high enough to admit of the operator standing or sitting at the back below. A very narrow ledge runs along the inside to rest the figures on so that they nearly touch the transparent sheet. They are held in the hand by a piece of cardboard or wood glued to the back (see Fig. IV). If a screen is not available the framework of a shallow box would do the transparent cloth stretched so as to leave room for the drop curtain in front. The box should then be suspended by ropes from its four corners and fastened to walls and floor, curtains being thrown over the ropes to hide the operators.

A shadow stage is usually about one yard and a quarter wide and one yard high. A piano is placed in the front of the scene where the performer, with back to the audience, takes the place of an orchestra. The figures can be first drawn then pasted on to cardboard and cut with scissors or knife. But those wishing to go to work seriously and have a stock company of lasting, clean-edged shadows should out them in zinc, as decorators do their stencils. If they are to move they must be jointed as in Fig. IV, which shows how a Gibson girl can be made to trail and away rhythmically across the stage after the manner of her kind. The limbs are cut off and a piece of cardboard being added they are replaced with wire and manipulated by means of cotton or string kept in place by little wire hoops, thus preventing the string projecting, and becoming visible to the audience. The cardboard clowns sold in toyshops which dance and gesticulate when a string is pulled would be of great help in understanding the mechanism of our little shadow figures.

The arrows pointing to the forearm of Fig. IV indicate that the arm has been jointed here but replaced by a knot of elastic which gives a life-like springy motion, without requiring to be manipulated with string.

A pretty Dutch scene could be re-constructed by taking a similar subject as Fig. II. The Mill (Fig. III) could be fastened to the side of the stage as shown in diagram to represent the middle distance. The sails if fastened on according to diagram, have only to be touched to be set in motion. Subjects similar to Fig. I, representing the fairy tale of the Princess of the Geese will suggest themselves readily to those who are fond of telling fairy tales to children.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

The Escape Pursuit and Lassoing of a Tiger in Tennessee.

A tiger in Tennessee may be set down as a decided novelty and the account of its capture makes an interesting story.

One day a circus came to Knoxville and on the eve of departure the circus wagons were being loaded on the cars. A switch engine was shoving some cars about when one of them became derailed colliding violently with two cage wagons and the cage containing three tigers was badly damaged. The woodwork was crushed in leaving a hole of sufficient size for the tigers to get out.

One of the animals leaped from the cage on to the flat car and from there to the ground. The two remaining ones were about to follow suit when the trainer and several other employees of the circus rushed up to the cage and prevented the exit. But one of the tigers was at large and as soon as the fact became generally known a stampede of the people in the vicinity occurred while the circus men rushed to inform the managers.

Preparations for the capture of the tiger were made. One of the Texas cowboys and the one most perfect in handling a lasso was detailed to make the attempt. The man handling the tiger was also instructed to assist in the dangerous duty and the pair went to work.

They located the tiger about a stone's throw from the cage in which he had been confined. The huge brute was crouched under a box car between the rails. His eyes shone brightly and looked to his captors as large as two full moons.

A large dry goods box was procured a hole bored in the bottom and the box placed on its side convenient to the animal. One end of the lasso was shoved through the hole and the Texan threw the rope. His judgment was perfect and the lariat dropped over the neck and left foreleg of the tiger to a nicety. Then the work of landing the animal in the box began.

He was pulled up to it slowly and although he resisted considerably was at last safely lodged in the box but not until he had torn off one glove worn by the cowboy and lacerated his hand badly. The box was then nailed up and the tiger hauled away growling spitefully.

How to Get Poor Quick.

Do not try to save your loose change. It is too small an amount to put in the savings bank. It would not amount to much anyway and there is great comfort in spending it. Just wait until you get sufficient worth while before you deposit it.

Do not try to economize. It is an infernal nuisance to always try to save a few cents here and there. Besides you will get the reputation of being mean and stingy. You want everybody to think you are generous.

Just look out for to-day. Have a good time as you go along. Just use your money yourself. Don't deprive yourself for the sake of laying up something for other people to fight over. Besides you are sure of to-day. You might not be alive to-morrow.—Success Magazine.

Magic Glass.

Here is something that the boys and girls may amuse themselves with. Take an ordinary pane of glass or a hand mirror that has not been polished just beforehand and on it with your finger trace the outlines of a face or a name or a drawing of any kind. The glass will look as if it had not been touched but blow your breath upon it and the tracing will at once become visible. For another experiment polish the surface of the glass and lay on it a coin of some kind. Remove the coin after a lit while and the glass will not show any mark on it but if you blow your breath on it, the image of the coin will appear. All this is due to the deposit of gases and fine dust particles on the surface of any glass that is exposed to the air for a little while.

Whereabouts of the Cat's Tail?

Little Dot was drawing a picture with pen and ink on her paper, relates the Philadelphia Record. It turned out to be a cat without a tail. "Where is the tail?" asked the mother.

She looked puzzled for a moment and then replied: "Why, it's in the ink bottle yet."

The Matter of Dress

The tailor made gown and the light weight storm coat which will keep off the chill of the spring winds and protect from the sudden storm are two requisites of the wardrobe which must be considered. In our illustration above we show a charming coat and skirt costume. The natty little bolero has double revers and cuffs, the lower one in each respect being of white cloth, which gives a very smart touch to the costume. The material is one of the newest tweeds which can be had in many shades including several art colors. The skirt is tight fitting around the hips but has a deep inverted plait at the back and is trimmed round the hem with upright strapped bands with mitred points which are graduated in size from front to back. The hat shown with this very neat costume is a small round shape of white felt simply trimmed with bunches of violets.

The full length coat shown at the right is semi-fitting and the sleeves and body are lined with silk or other lining material according to the amount one feels disposed to pay for such a garment. The back is well out and the whole garment though roomy enough to go over a jacket is far more shapely than the usual sacque coat. In the illustration the collar is shown turned up and the revers tucked in to show how cozy it can be made when out in the weather. The hat which so modestly harmonizes with this long coat is made of soft felt with a rolled brim edged with velvet. A band of the same velvet surrounds the crown and forms a huge rosette from which starts a small ostrich tip.

And now to make a big jump from the practical to the finery of the wedding trousseau let us give a brief description of the wedding dress displayed in our smaller illustration. It is an empire gown of white satin, the long trained skirt being quite plain and the draped bodice arranged with a fichu of Brussels lace, and two long stoles of lace back and front. The veil is of Brussels lace and is fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. And now having conscientiously and faithfully disposed of our pictures let us turn to other matters of dress which will interest particularly at this season of the year. In dressy costumes for spring the lightweight broadcloths are to be the smartest. The supple chiffon broadcloths so admirably adapted to all sorts of drapings as well as in plain tight costumes, became fashionable at once and their vogue now long continued promises to see no end.

In broadcloths the plain rather than the stripes and checks now seen will be a choice of the fashionable fair one. The printed mousselines will be much seen in reception and dressy afternoon and also in dinner gowns. The lovely borders that came in last spring will be more worn, as the prices will not be quite so high. Of course they are no longer the novelties they were but they are beautiful, and will be much worn by the women of fashion.

In the cut of a costume lies its chief charm provided the fabric is suited to the person and the place. The plaited skirt is always worn. It suits the ordinary figure, whether too thin or too plump, better than the plain skirt, but the latter of circular cut are infinitely smarter, more graceful, are light in weight, and easier to manage in walking. The tight circular skirt without a plait to relieve it about the hips is suited to the truly feminine figure only. By the feminine figure I mean the womanly one, full of curves, with wide hips, flat in the front and rounded in the back. The hipless backless monstrosity which some women claim to admire is the masculine shape and a man might quite as well and with as much propriety sigh for the broad hips and full curves of the womanly figure. The whole attempt of fashion to achieve long straight lines and the hipless figure is a curious perversion, offensive to the normal human being, whether man or woman, but especially obnoxious to men.

The new thing in coats for back-about shopping and morning wear for spring will be the short or hip length coats. These will vary from 22 to 27 inches in length, depending largely on the height of the wearer or the length of the waist. The smartest of these will be tight fitting.

For the wear of most women however the costumes offered in even the smart shops will have these jackets semi-fitting and of the longer rather than the shorter lengths.

The semi-fitting coat is much the best for every one for morning and general traveling wear. Many a woman wears different corsets different in length and build and she may wear whichever is most comfortable and look as well in the semi-fitting coat. The tight coat however demands one's triggest corset. Another strong point in favor of the semi-fitting coat is that the thin woman looks more rounded, while the exuberance of the too plump figure is not defined, but pleasantly veiled.

A feature of the new spring coats will be the pointed skirts. Some of these will be pointed in the front and in the back or will have the pointed front and rounded back, or points on the sides.

Some of the coat skirts will be slashed and these slashes will in some instances have buttonholes worked in on one side—real buttonholes—and on the other a row of buttons. Short slashes will be outlined with lengthwise strips of braid.

HOTEL REGULATION BILL IS RIDICULED.

MIRTH - PROVOKING
AMENDMENTS

—With provoking Amendments
Bill Against Cigarette Smoking Killed—Automobile Speed Limit Stands.

Guthrie Ok May 5—In recommending for passage the bill by Mr. Murray and Mr. Whitehurst of the house for the regulation and inspection of hotels the senate loaded it down with many mirth provoking amendments and subjected it to much ridicule.

The bill among other things provides for extended bed sheets which may be folded over the covering thus preventing the sleeper from inhaling germs which might be lurking in the bed covering. The first amendment was that the sheets should be as long at the top as they were at the bottom.

Short Blanket Sarcasm.

Senator Seldman of the Osage Nation gave the senate a treatise on how to keep warm with a short blanket which brought from Senator Bill Johnson of Canadian county a protest against the passage of the bill.

How is the farmer to get any benefit from this? he thundered when the provision for the inspection of wagon yards? An additional section by Senator Russell was adopted, continuing a poetic prayer supposed to be repeated by ill guests sleeping in inspected hotels.

As the bill was completed Senator Roddie said Texas had been the subject of ridicule for trying to pass a law compelling him to bed sheets and the Oklahoma was in a fair way to follow.

Anti-Cigarette Bill Lost.

This bill, House day in the senate it took a while for the minor details. Representative Shelton which makes it a misdemeanor with a fine of $5 to $25 for smoking, chewing and inhaling of pipe or self tobacco of any kind to persons under 16 years of age. Instead of repealing the present Oklahoma law the bill adds to it but on final passage it was shot two votes of a margin and was declared lost.

The bill by Representative Cop of Canadian county, regulating the licensing of automobiles and cutting down the speed limit one could run on the public highways was also killed.

Senator Stewart secured favorable consideration of his industrial school bill which was withdrawn from the governor's office yesterday and changed the personnel of the board of regents to be composed of the state superintendent of education president of the board of agriculture and three others two of whom shall be women to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate.

It is agreed in the bill that this school shall not interfere with the agricultural and mechanical college neither shall it have any of the money appropriated for the agricultural school by the general government.

Favorable recommendation was made upon Senator Taylor's bill for working county convicts on the public roads.

How slow the Tonkawa Preparatory School of Kay county is in field sports was brought out in the house debate upon Senator Davis bill for a division of the income from land apportioned to the several Oklahoma educational institutions. Of the university money the state university was down for five-eighths and Tonkawa for three-eighths.

On behalf of the former institution Mr. Evans of Alfalfa county objected because a four hour course such as the preparatory school had, he insisted could never place it in the university class. He told the house that the state university had graduated now members of university faculties in California, Montana, Maine and Wisconsin. One graduate was ill-ing the port of United States consul at Saxen Germany.

Tonkawa has never been able to even reach the state university in field sports said Mr. Evans. The university bested the football team of the Edin Normal but the normal team beat Tonkawa. They can never be in the same class gentlemen.

Mr. Murdoch thought if the students sit out baseball and football probably it would not cost the state so much to educate them. The bill was passed without change and of the money the university gets $22,000 Tonkawa $13,000 Agricultural and Mechanical College $2,000, Colorado Normal and University $3,000 and the three normal schools $11,500 each.

FLIGHT TRAIN DASHES INTO

Two Distinct Tornadoes Visit Districts in Arkansas—Two killed at Town of Marche.

St. Louis Mo May 5—A thunder storm of unusual severity accompanied by a high wind swept over the city early today doing much damage to property and indirectly causing loss of life.

The bridge of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad near Nashville Ill was washed out and wrecked a freight train Engineer Ward Conductor Smith and a trainman whose name was not learned, were caught under the engine and drowned.

The train piled up in a mass in a creek which was swollen into a torrent.

The lowlands known as American Bottom east of East St. Louis comprising an area of thirty-five miles is under water. Many houses in the French village are unroofed and people are panic stricken.

In St. Louis several persons were struck by lightning.

Lumber and Nails Killed at Marche. Little Rock Ark May 5—Dives reports of the general storm of yesterday over the state show a growing list of dead and injured. Two were killed outright at Marche, a mile northwest of Little Rock. A man was seriously injured while reports from the same locality long its road show many other injuries and deaths from other causes. Further mention of people.

Three distinct tornadoes are accounted for one beginning at Marche and traveling northward through Pottawatomie, Pottawatomie and Morris on to at Morris Ill in the southeastern part of the state and one at Cashman in the northern section.

The Marche storm was by far the worst. Damage estimated at $500,000 was done by the wind which swept the little town which was the site of the white mill and of trees in it and a path five miles long, in that place.

Although it is not known exactly how many lives were lost, the damage is still impossible to write over a large part of the state and the storm tonight out of commission. The town of Marche is partially restored.

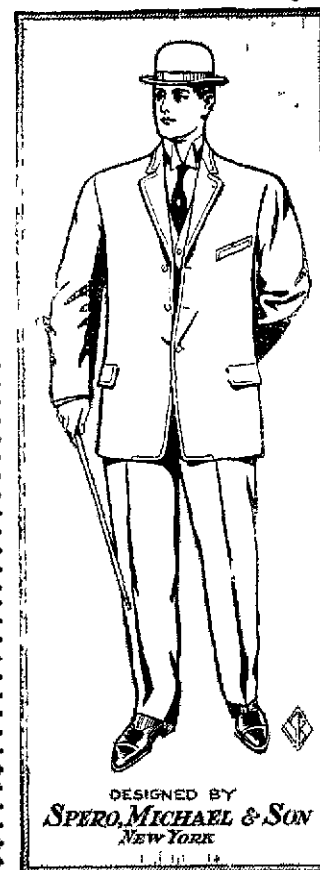

Terrific Storm Near Dumas, Ark.

Dumas Ark May 5—A terrific storm accompanied by much lightning thunder and rain struck this section last night about 8 o'clock. It was evident that great damage had been done toward the west, and this morning news was received here that the home of Will J. Martin who resided with his wife near Mills, an office in Lincoln county and had been completely demolished and that Mr. Martin had been killed and Will Martin himself escaped with his right leg fractured in two places.

PLAN TO GIVE $50,000 FOR BOLL WEEVIL REMEDY

Washington, May 5—Senator McLaurin of Mississippi introduced a bill today authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay $50,000 to an person who shall within two years from the date of the passage of the act discover a practicable remedy which, if applied, will destroy the boll weevil.

The bill provides that any person may submit such remedy to the Secretary of Agriculture, who shall have it tested. It is provided that if more than one remedy or method shall be deemed satisfactory and practicable, the best one shall be adopted and the discoverer or inventor shall be paid the sum stipulated.

The Vanishing Fleets

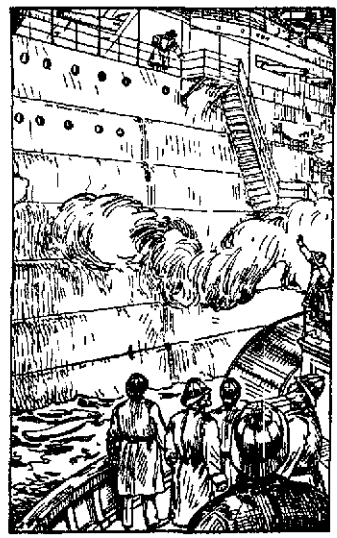

BY ROY NORTON.

The miracle of her position was greater than the marvel of her return for above and below that spot on the river were bridges impassable for a boat of half her size beneath which tugs and other craft were wont to lower their jointed stacks. In all the world there was no known strength or mechanical contrivance that could transport over shallows and bridges 22,000 tons of steel and then leave it in this prohibited place. Her very appearance bore mute testimony of singular strife. True she was intact to a point flush with the great steel domes which held her menacing and frowning guns, but her fighting masts, her top rig and the upper bands of her funnel were riven off as if by one devastating line shot taken full ahead or square astern. The wreckage of this hamper had been removed so that no debris littered her deserted decks.

For many days of gloom it had been accepted as a fact that nothing but annihilation could account for the disappearance of the squadron which had doggedly sailed away into the mysterious west to vanquish a terrible and unknown enemy or meet a glorious death. Little hope had been sustained as the days of silence went by that any explanation of that defeat might be forthcoming or that any vessel might return and now before London's gathered populace was a grim relic which only added to conjecture. From no source could the secret of this mysterious visitation be learned and so the crowd watched and waited.

A boat whose flag distinguished her as being of the river patrol obeyed a hail from the shore pulled noisily up the stream against the outgoing tide and circled round the leviathan as though suspecting danger from within. Her chief officer, after due caution and receiving no response cautiously directed her along side and boarded. He dashed over the starboard quarter. The ever increasing crowd along the embankment drew in its breath in expectancy waiting for a revelation. It heard him shout: "Be low there!" and leaned forward listening for whatever response might be given but nothing was heard save the steady lap of the water and the farthest sounds of early river traffic.

The officer advanced along the deck to the companionway and leaned curiously into it repeating his hail and once more there was a wait and no reply. He bled away from the entrance and hesitated. It was plain that he desired witnesses before invading the precincts of a stricken craft and in a moment more he stepped to the rail, held a short conversation with those on the decks of his boat and then waited till he was joined by others of that force that guards the Thames. Three men clambered aboard and stood by him until they were joined by two others who, obeying a low spoken order, stationed themselves at the head of the companionway. The officer and his assistants advanced slowly stepped into the darkness and disappeared into the depths of the battle ship while the suspense along the embankment and on the patrol became more intense. It was several minutes before the investigators reappeared, and then they had gone only a short way into the vessel. They walked to the rail and the crowd remained waiting. With British taciturnity they declined to answer any of the questions which were shouted to them from the shore.

The little boat swung off, turned her nose out into the stream and steamed hurriedly away at full speed, bent on summoning others of her service, and in less than half an hour returned accompanied by a small flotilla, which spread out and stationed its members close up against the sides of the stranded craft. Another officer of higher authority joined those waiting on the decks of the Dreadnought, and led the way below, ready to learn the worst. He went as into a plague ship manned by the dead expecting to meet nothing but gruesome relics of tragedy, and prepared for shocking sights.

From place to place he advanced almost on tiptoe, and followed by his companions who stared into darker corners or glanced fearfully behind when the echoes of their falling feet clumped hollowly through the steel

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. There will be seventy-five gentlemen in the party representing the leading wholesale houses, of Dallas.

An effort should be made to get before these people the natural resources and the production of the different manufacturing enterprises of the city, for instance samples from the cement plant, the brick plant, etc., and plenty of good cold artesian water.

The streets should be as clean as possible for nothing catches the eye of the stranger so much as a nice clean city.

Lets be up and doing and when they get back to Dallas let them feel that they met an up to date set of business men in a hustling little city.

The attention of the 25,000 Club is especially called to the visit of the Dallas Commercial Club next Tuesday.

The Tobin Painted Home.

Among the many modern and up to date cottages being constructed in the city of Ada, none to which our attention has been attracted, compares in elegance and finish as the new home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Tobin, now nearing completion on 17th street. This structure was planned and constructed by Mr. J. B. Giles, a resident of Ada and we could not do justice to this piece of architecture without giving Mr. Giles credit that is due him.

The library hall and dining room is finished in imported hard woods of several kinds, while the stairway, interior columns, doors, windows, mantels, etc., are of white oak. The floors being of neat designs of parquet, composed of the various kinds of costly oak with traces of holly, maple, walnut, cherry and South American mahogany. The building has eight rooms with pantry, subboards, closets, including linen closets, porches with colonial columns, all finished in elaborate style. The building also has a basement. The painting and decorating is being done by the Ingram Paint Co., who deserve their share of the credit in this elegant building. Mr. Ingram looking personally after this part of the work. It is gratifying indeed to know that we have among us such citizens, who are willing to add to the beauty of the city such homes. It is an indication that they will remain permanently, and deserve their credit and appreciation of the city for the display of energy, money, ingenuity and merchandising that this home has afforded.

Notice.

If you need pasture for your stock, see J. R. Ingram. Plenty of grass and water. One mile south of Ada.

Clean Up.

City Marshal Geo. Culver requests us to state that he proposes from now on to enforce the law regarding the cleaning of alleys and sweeping rubbish, papers and other stuff into the street. This does not only apply to alleys, but back yards of all business and residence houses. Get barrels or boxes and put your rubbish into it. Phone the city scavenger and have him haul it off. This can be done with very little expense and will help keep the city cleaner. Mr. Culver says there will be no exception to this rule.

Good Water.

Rev. J. R. Brown came in the News office today and informed us that he and his family began using the artesian water about one week ago and each member of his family have gained one-half pound per day since they began using it.

Postponed.

The tea to be given tomorrow (Thursday) at Mrs. J. D. Rindard's by the ladies of the Baptist church has been postponed on account of the school entertainment.

H. M. Sanders has arrived and will soon begin the new well south of town.

J. D. Rimare of Guthrie, general agent of the Henderson-Sturgis Piano Co., is in Ada on legal business.

BASE BALL AT MADILL.

Ada Defeats Madill in Score of 5 to 1. Fast Game.

The Grand Leader base ball team yesterday defeated the Madill team in a fast game the score being 5 to 1. Two home runs were made by Ada, one by Harry Wright and the other by Kelsner. McDade pitched a fine game striking out 11 men and allowing only 4 hits.

Ellis made a 3 bagger bringing in two men. Two more games will be played at Madill today and tomorrow, and the team will go to Tishomingo for a series of three games. They will be out ten days before returning home.

Home Mission Society.

The Home Mission Society was organized 22 years ago by Miss Lucinda B. Holm. Its primary work was to build parsonages, especially in the great west, and the work is not yet near complete.

The Home Mission Society has grown and broadened until now its work is a three-fold ministry, namely to relieve, to teach and to save.

When we consider the poor, the Orientals, the Mormon danger, the orphan and the fallen, we find that every woman in Southern Methodism is needed to do this work.

Any one who has second hand clothing which they would like to donate as charity, The Home Mission society of Ada will receive, care for and distribute advisedly.

MRS. W. B. BARRY, Press Supt.

Fitzhugh.

A heavy rain accompanied by wind fell here last night.

Elsie Holliday, who has been very low for some time, is not much improved.

Dr. Huddle returned from Shawnee Saturday, where he had been for several days. Mrs. Huddle spent the week at Roff with Mrs. Bronaugh, during the doctor's absence.

Mrs. Ethridge and children visited Mr. Holliday and family Sunday.

Brother Brundige, a Baptist preacher from Ada, preached excellent sermons here Sunday and Sunday night. The attendance was good and it is hoped that he will be with us at least once a month.

G. A. Soper, Mrs. Exia Hawkins, Ludie Hawkins and Miss Clara Varner were in Ada Saturday.

Miss Nellie McLachlan is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Hattoy, since her school closed.

School closed here last Thursday and all the children went on a "fishing trip" and had a big time in the afternoon.

Miss Pearl Hix of Roff, and Misses Minnie and Neva Laxton spent Saturday with Mrs. G. A. Sneed.

Several young people from this place, attended the closing exercise of the school at Laxton Friday night and all reported an enjoyable time.

Misses Nova and Willa Harbert, and little brother of Roff, were visitors here last week. Miss Nova taught music here the past term and has a number of friends.

Mr. Bob Carroll attended court at Ada the latter part of last week.

Mr. Della Whitaker wife and son Lee called to the bedside of Mrs. W. H. Dyer, Sunday evening. Mr. Dyer lives east from here and is a brother of Mrs. Whitaker. We learned that their infant died Sunday evening and that the mother was in a dangerous condition.

Attention Ladies.

Mr. W. C. Duncan received a phone message this morning from Mr. W. H. Ebey who is in Guthrie calling for more men to come to Guthrie and assist him in his work for the normal school. But the committee is about out of funds, and Mr. Duncan has requested Mrs. Hope to call a meeting of the ladies of Ada to devise some way of raising more necessary funds. Mrs. Hope has willingly consented to do so and has set next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 at the Christian church as the place and time for the meeting and requests all ladies of Ada to be present. This is a move in the right direction, the ladies never fail in an undertaking of this kind, and we now feel assured of success. Don't fail ladies to be there, some suggestion you might make may add to the success of the undertaking.

cavern. Once a weird shroud caused them to spring toward each other with nervous fright and when the ship came meowing up to them begging in its animal way for companionship, they looked foolishly at one another like boys who had been startled in the midst of ghost tales told by a camp fire in the woods.

Cabin after cabin and wardroom after wardroom was opened and searched, but nowhere could be found sign of disturbance or conflict. There was not another living being aboard to greet them nor did they find more useful testimonials of war.

In the captain's quarters clean and businesslike the roll topped desk was close, and the books on top of it were in order as for inspection. At its side stood a typewriter with the tin resting lightly upon it and a stenographer's case notebook beside neatly checked and showing that the last letter or order had been completed. On the wardrobe table lay a magazine open and turned page downward as though the reader had just left it to keep his place and had stepped away from it on a sudden call. In the corners of this great room, four of guns and keels were visible in the array in the distance. The wife could not help but feel in better state of mind than the first of high tide. The cases were drawn out and the books were with a certain air of history. The captain's desk had been in action. It was not a mere toy. There was nothing in it or below offering a box to the captain.

as uncertain or with more ground for question because there he had been traced to a carriage which had driven away. The king of England had gone into his garden and the guards at the gates swore he had not passed the portals which they watched. And for their pains they were doubted and placed under temporary detention until the king should return to prove that they were not in a conspiracy against the state.

Perhaps the alarm would have been less keen were it not for the tale of the laser, but the cases were so parallel that the comings on was in strictly formed that England's monarch was probably in as great jeopardy as his fellow ruler who had now been gone for many years. The noble looked at one and another and asked what times.

No person might be in the room. The limit to 5 minutes. The limit to 5 minutes. The limit to 5 minutes.

solid masonry and steel.

And so the men of the sea passed down and back while the people of London spent the time in trying to see the latest evidence of disaster too late in crowding to the embankment and then went to their homes. Business came to a halt, shops were unopened and desks were closed. In the government offices men moved helplessly and in homes throughout the country families sat within doors gravely discussing the latest manifest of power.

Not was the public aware that in higher circles another cause for anxiety had been uncovered which was nothing less than the disappearance of the prime minister. A king, a prime minister and the first lord of the admiralty taken at one time. It was sufficient to make others of prominence look at one another questioning when their turn might come and what the end would be. No one was safe in this great crisis when thrones tottered on their settees and men were whisked away in the night when the most powerful vessels of war circled all the wisdom of science and the early of invention might be deemed to find hand in like toys.

There was no ground for belief that any one other than the United States might have been the controlling factor in this long series of untoward events but from that nation came no aid. A skinner more moment than the thunder of distant guns and more terrible and cruel as than an open display of invincible arms. It told no rest stretch of imagination to people the air with phantoms on phantoms of sea and implacable foe bent on invasion when the time seemed ripe. A country which could flout the world was capable of anything and it was not believable that she was acting without a purpose. But what means did she take? What would be her next move? How had she accomplished those victories already scored upon her tally sheet? Only one hope for partial explanation remained and that was based upon the return to sanity of a maddened sailor who had come to them on a life raft from the unknown as the only witness of a disaster and the only living link.

And even while the anxious officials thought of him a group of surgeons and specialists were standing round a cot in a hospital watching this man breathe his last. Now that his importance had increased a hundredfold death was intervening and sealing his lips. He passed away as silently as he had been found his jumbled words giving no new and tangible clew. Speechless he had been picked up on a life raft in mid ocean and speechless he voyaged out into another world.

Night fell over London in folding a stricken city where none came upon the streets and men within doors whispered to each other dreading what the morrow might bring forth. The heart of Britain beating with dogged determination to the last, was broken. America was the master of fate and could deal out its awards or blows with the inexorableness of a god.

Puzzled and overcast the patrol men took temporary charge of the ship while a boat hurried away from the main line of the city. A detailed report to the admiralty where the new was received with amazement no less than that which had brought the news of the embankment. Subordinate of departments called for their duty supervisors telephone bells jangled and British phlegm gave way to excitement but even in this remarkable state precedent was maintained and routine observed so that from man to man going constantly upward the report reached the first lord of the admiralty.

Then for the first time it was learned that this high and mighty official was missing from his home and had been summoned to the palace in the night. No delay could be brooked in an event so startling and with due ceremony inquiries were instituted for him. This caused an investigation in gray old Buckingham which spread until it came to the head of government when it became known that not only was the naval officer missing but no less a personage than the king of England as well.

In great disasters by sea or land where swift death ravages men cry aloud in their excitement and distress, but when a calamity threatens a nation and a king is involved they seek to hide their emotions. Hence it was that in the palace men came hurriedly together without words to those around and in whispers expressed their anxiety. It was recalled with alarm that the king had left his palace in an equally unceremonious manner, decoyed by a stranger, and enticed into the night. Nor was his fate

As they advanced, captains of this great navy arrived in London in response to urgent summons and hastened to the admiralty. One and all they were called to pass expert opinion on the condition of the Dreadnought and offer a solution of the methods used to bring her to that singular anchorage in the river but like children groping in the mist they could formulate no tenable theory nor give any lucid explanation. They looked at each other in amazement wagged their heads and admitted their inability. Plague would have left dead men at their posts or battle would have left more serious scars than the cutting away of the fighting masts and wrecking of the stacks but even then who would navigate her to home waters and what could account for her presence in a place where even a small sea going craft could not go? If that nation in the west had a submarine of terrific speed and unknown power it might perhaps destroy a ship, but by what means could it force it under or over a bridge of

CHAPTER XIII.
In the Beginning.
It was January of that momentous year when the world's unrest reached a climax and the president of the United States his official day done out alone in his study perusing a report from an agent of the state department and mentally comparing it with preceding ones. The shaded light threw into relief against the darker shadows behind the long lean jaw the grimly determined mouth and the somber eyes but lent a touch of softness to the queer little lines which told that on occasion the man could show infinite kindness and humanity.

Thrust forward from the ranks of the people into the most important office of the land driven reluctantly into the arena of action from a seclusion which had for him the charms of peace he was still a man in peculiar isolation. In this the third year of his term he was yet unknown and under constant discussion. Half of his countrymen hailed him as the Lincoln of his time and the other half declared him a tyrant in embryo. He had fought so doggedly for his principles that he had estranged those who had been his most ardent supporters. His disregard for party projects had cost him the friendship of politicians his advocacy of certain reforms had subjected him to caustic comments his very dignity and sensitiveness had been mistaken for austerity and only his most intimate friends understood that in him beat a great heart filled to overflowing for his country and fellow men. These comprehending things were few but among them was the most intimate was the friend of his boyhood. Old Bill Roberts the inventor.

Between the two the exposure that singular rift on found rarely among men in which each admired qualities in the other which he himself lacks. To Roberts the president was the greatest statesman of the century and to the president Roberts was the most accomplished scientist and inventor who had ever lived but on this night laden with fate in which each was to play his part the mind of neither was on the other. The inventor was absorbed in the last of a series of experiments that had enmeshed him in a dream whereby he hoped to eradicate friction and the president was perturbed by reports for which he had waited many weeks.

These latter were exhaustive in detail and in recapitulation tersely predicted that it would be almost an impossibility to avert war with Japan as soon as she reached a state of preparation. They summed up her naval strength which they declared almost equal at the time of writing to that of the United States, and told how every navy yard in Japan was rushing construction with all available speed both night and day so that her augmented squadrons when built would be superior to those of the great republic. They reviewed the land preparations by showing that a greater number of men were being drilled than ever before in the country's history and that the redoubtable army sent against Russia would be small in comparison with that which could be mobilized for another invasion. The reports expressed the belief that Japanese capitalists were anxious to seize the Philippines and were encouraging the ambitions of the emperor of Nippon to the full extent of their purses hoping ultimately to find another outlet for investment under their own flag. As if in proof that the government was supporting this bellicose attitude the reports gave as a certainty that some high authority was dictating the editorial policies of the Japanese press and in all ways possible fomenting the ill feeling against the United States.

There could be no underestimation of the ability of the naval officer who had made these statements for he had passed more than ten years in that station at the orient spoke the language thoroughly well understood the people and above all was a realist. He gave it as his final opinion that within six months Japan her navy completed her orders drilled to perfection and her treasury well supplied with gold would find pretext for a declaration of war. The only means of preventing this deplorable event in his judgment was to place the American navy in such a state of preparedness that it would stay the warlike advance and hold them in the leash of awe.

The president read the last clause again and with a sigh of discontent leaned back in his chair. Hour after hour he brooded over the complexities of the situation and late at night came to the conclusion that he must lose no time in calling together his most trusted advisers lay the report before them and then by consultation and discussion decide which would be the most promising policy to pursue in so grave a crisis. Before he retired the orders were given to his secretary which resulted in the first meeting of that coterie of men who were to assume the full responsibility for the conduct of war which afterwards fulfilled the experts' prediction.
